Dear parishioners and friends,

Pope Leo, like Pope Francis, encourages us to cultivate a culture of service and encounter. A student at St. Edward High School recently was won an essay contest. He chose to write about his experience working with children at the Refugee Resource Center at St. Colman Parish. Here is an excerpt from that essay:

While the (mostly single-parent) mothers were in a meeting in what looked like a school cafeteria, my wrestling teammates and I helped keep their kids entertained outside in the back. We drew pictures on the pavement, blew bubbles, and bowled with plastic pins. For a moment, I forgot I was seventeen. I forgot I had to apply for college, work a job, or have responsibilities. I was seven again, playing during recess behind the school. I reached peace, a sort of calmness in the whirlwinds of an unpredictable life.

If we are open to it, encountering and serving “the other” transforms us, just as the popes promise us! Thank God for this young student’s sincere and genuine approach to life.

Sincerely, Father Joseph H. Callahan
